James C. Stripling, Jr., 1-K Gardenway, a senior at Northwestern High School and a Greenbelter for 12 years, has won a scholarship award to Harvard—$4400. Other offers are: Yale $4600, Princeton $4000, Dartmouth $4000, and Brown. An ROTC appointment was won in competition with 23,000 other boys. Jim is one of 24 in the State of Maryland to be selected.

Jim, who has been very active at school, is also active in Greenbelt affairs. He starred for the Boys' Club basketball and baseball teams for many years, and last summer was selected on the Junior Boys' Club All-Star Baseball team. He also played three years for the Greenbelt American Legion team. A former Boy Scout, he has served as an assistant secretary for the Community Church Sunday School for the past year.

At Northwestern, Jim played varsity baseball and basketball in his junior year. He is treasurer of the National Honor Society - an office he was elected to in his junior year. He is homeroom president, president of the school's Creative Writing Club, and a member of Quill and Scroll, National Honor Society for school journalists.

Last summer he served as a reporter for the Cooperator writing up the American Legion and Boys Club Sport News.

As an added honor, he is one of the winners of the annual Kiwanis Citizenship Award given to outstanding seniors in Prince Georges County.

Belt Freeway Route Change To Be Made

The route of the Inter-County Belt Freeway, over which there has been much controversy in recent months, will be definitely relocated, Ralph Webster, president of the GVHC board, has announced.

The new route, however, has not yet been fixed. Webster reported that the engineers now conducting a survey of the route have been sympathetic to Greenbelt's views, but the turning point was a small cemetery located near Schrom's Airport. The road must be re-routed to by-pass this cemetery.

GVHC Revises Painting Policy, Adds $2500 to "Paint-Your-Home" Program

By Russell Greenbaum

A revised policy and the sum of $2,500 was voted by the GVHC board of directors Friday, May 28, to promote and encourage the self-help or paint-your-own-house program.

The new policy allows GVHC members to paint their homes individually. Formerly, all residents in a row of homes had to agree to paint their homes at the same time. The only requirement now is that the majority of GVHC members in a row must agree as to the color to be used.

Jr. High PT-A Bids Farewell to Chotiner

At the final Greenbelt Jr. High School PTA meeting for this season, a social evening was enjoyed by about 500 people, with the Glee Club and Band presenting an enjoyable concert.

Dr. M. Shorb, the retiring president, paid tribute to Allen Chotiner, principal, who will be leaving Greenbelt Jr. High School at the close of this school term.

Chotiner spoke of his regrets at leaving and thanked everyone for the cooperation he had enjoyed. He then introduced the principal who will take over in September, F. E. Furgang, new vice-principal at Northwestern High School.

Furgang spoke briefly expressing his pleasure at being with the school next fall.

The faculty was honored and presented with corsages and boutonnieres by the retiring PTA officer. Visiting guests from 11 schools were also paid tribute. The ninth grades were invited guests for the special evening.

The business of the evening was the unanimous election and installation of the new PTA officers: Percy H. Andros, president; Mrs. Harry S. Weidberg, vice-president; Mrs. E. L. Hayden, treasurer, and Mrs. Steven Hollack, secretary.

Refreshments were served in the cafeteria and parents were invited to visit classrooms for many special exhibits.

Shiren Art Students Exhibit At Library

The annual art exhibition by young students of Mrs. Sari Shiren, Greenbelt art teacher, is now being held in the Greenbelt Library. The 14 students exhibiting their work are all between the ages of nine and eleven.

Nearly all of the young artists are showing two oil paintings and a piece of sculpture while one is displaying charcoal sketches. Prizes will be awarded for the best works of art.

Greenbelt youngsters participating in the exhibition are Greg Carr of 6-H Crescent, Matt Citron of 20-E Ridge, Robert Fink of 2-B Hillside, Steve Mintz of 1-C Westway, Merryl Perlman of 6-M Ridge, Diana Leasia of 45-H Ridge, and Kathleen Wilson.

Other children represented by their work are Barbara Ann Vrana, Mary Ann Walker, Terry Etienne, Carolyn Dutssky, Gerald Heinze, Jim Champo, and Harley Mimura.

Mrs. Shiren, who has been teaching art for 10 years, believes that the study of art helps bring out a feeling of independence in children and develops such traits as understanding, kindness, and sincerity.

Paul Campbell requested and received $2,000 to buy paint for this program and $500 for ladders. He noted, however, that this was a conservative estimate and more money would be required later if the program caught on. Paint is to be provided for the entire exterior of the houses. Three colors are available for the trim of the brick and frame homes and white for the brick homes.

Meanwhile, the GVHC program of painting the trim on all the homes during a five-year cycle will continue. Under the program 200 frame homes and 100 brick homes are scheduled for painting each year. However, the repair of gutters is to get top priority this year, and the painting of the trim will be postponed until late summer or fall. Painting funds may be used to finish up the gutter work if necessary.

The dilemma of home-owners who were stymied because of the refusal of one or two residents in a row to do their own painting was brought to the attention of the board by Mr. and Mrs. Irving Oring of 1-F Westway.

It was admitted by the board that the painting of the homes would be spotty as a result of this new policy, but board member Bruce Bowman pointed out that "social pressure" would probably result in laggard members finally completing the painting of a row.

It is not expected that renters would join the self-help program but neither will they have any voice in the selection of the color to be used.

Fee for Clothesline Poles

Three other maintenance jobs were transferred to a fee-for-service basis by the board. The replacement of clothesline poles and sunken garbage encasements and the extermination of moles will no longer be a free maintenance service. However, all applications for these services which were on file as of Friday night will be honored and handled without charge.

Campbell noted that the replacement of clothesline wooden poles with metal poles for frame homes had been carried out in recent months. An amendment which would allow this service to continue free until January 1 was defeated by a 6-1 vote. Lloyd Moore was the lone dissenter while Frank Lastner and Ed Burgoon were absent.

The main reason for the defeat of this amendment was the experience last fall when the announcement well in advance that stoves and refrigerators would be serviced on a fee basis after January 1 resulted in a huge flood of calls, which have not yet been completed.

Option on Lakeside Lots

The question of an option on the remainder of the unsold lots belonging to the Lakeside development was discussed by the board. Lakeside had given the GVHC

Letters to the Editor

SHORT-SIGHTED

To the editor:

With the approaching summer season, the inconvenience of the law against wearing shorts in the Center confronts us again. For many of us, shorts are the logical costume for the hot and humid months, and to be forced to change clothes just to do a little shopping seems unreasonable.

Why is it that what is perfectly proper anywhere else is indecent the moment one sets foot in the Center? Anyone interested in repealing the law is asked to write letters to the Cooperator or contact the undersigned.

Open Letter to the Editor

Our family wishes to express our very sincere thanks for the wonderful consideration and contributions of all our friends and neighbors in Greenbelt. We would appreciate it very much if you will publish this feeble note of gratitude.

We especially thank our friends who gave their free time in collecting the fund for our boy.

Also, we owe a great deal to the Greenbelt Rescue Squad, whose promptness helped save Jimmy's life.

We are indeed grateful to all and will never know how to begin to repay all for their kindness.

Thank you very much,

Sincerely,

The big event of the week was the home kitchen demonstration by the Pepco people on Tuesday afternoon at the Greenbelt Theater. The place was jam-packed with women eager to win the many valuable prizes that were offered and to see the newest improvements for the kitchen. Everything demonstrated looked wonderful—if you could afford it.

The electric stove which everyone has been looking at goggled-eyed for the past week in the window of the Variety Store was won by Mrs. Barbara Rarroyo whom we don't believe is a Greenbelter. (There were many people from College Park, Berwyn and Riverdale there). Several local residents, however, won prizes. Mrs. Harry Rhodes of 6-D Ridge took home the ham, Mrs. Ruth Meyer won ten dollars worth of groceries, Mrs. D. B. Littlefield got the ten-dollar permanent wave, and Mrs. S. E. Stephenson nabbed a table radio.

Other prize-winners were Mrs. Martha Kaufman (a case of Co-op lubricating oil), Mrs. Eleanor Carr and Mrs. Tesie Morton (the sets of silver), Mrs. Idella Berg (a Timex wrist watch), Mrs. Paul Kasko (Sunset sandals), Mrs. W. Vella (Jantzen bathing suit), and Mrs. Michael Burchik and Mrs. Stanbough (Scotch Koolers).

This column should be full of pleasant news, but I have to report that a mean and vicious thief has ruined the well-known lawn decorations of the Joseph C. Searls who live in the honeymoon cottage at 35-A Ridge. Four flamingoes made out of aluminum were broken off from the legs and stolen. These were part of a collection of gifts the Searls have been collecting for more than 13 years. The flamingoes, which they'd had for three years, are no good to anyone in their present state. Just a case of sheer vandalism.

Showers are always wonderful parties and the one given for Mrs. Richard Ellsworth of 8-R Plateau last week at the home of Mrs. Glenn Black of 10-E Plateau was no exception. Co-hostesses with Mrs. Black were Mrs. Jay Lundberg of 7-L Research Rd. and Mrs. Ralph Olsen of 1-E Westway. Other Greenbelters who attended were Mrs. Percy Andros, Mrs. Dean Brown, Mrs. Max Madson, Mrs. Vincent Caruso, Mrs. Willard Wall, Mrs. Harold Billings, and Mrs. Ralph Mecham. About 20 people in all joined in the fun.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Knight of 5-F Gardenway who celebrated their fifth wedding anniversary on May 14.

A farewell party for the Charles Brattons who left Greenbelt last Saturday was given by the WSCS and adult choir of Mowatt Methodist Church at the home of Mrs. Frank Swink of Lanham, Md. The Battons were presented with a console set and an apron with her friends' autographs embroidered on it. A wonderful and thoughtful idea for a farewell present.

The Jack Kitchens of 9-C Ridge just returned from several days in Muncy and Williamsport, Pa. Mrs. Kitchen attended the 35th class reunion of Muncy High School there.

We mustn't forget to congratulate the Greenbelt Drum Major-ettes who placed second to Northwestern High in the majorettes contest held at the Armory on May 21. There were 13 groups of majorettes who participated from all over the area—the District, Maryland, and Virginia.

Dr. Crowder will return to Greenbelt, Saturday, June 5, from his vacation. For the past three weeks he and Mrs. Crowder have been traveling by automobile, first to Minneapolis, Minn., where they attended the American Baptist Convention. Last week they drove to St. Louis, Mo., where the Southern Baptist Convention was held. They also visited Troy, West Virginia and Monpelier, Indiana.

board a 30-day option on these lots, which would have expired June 18.

Ralph Webster, president of the GVHC board, indicated that what was wanted was an option that would insure that none of the unsold lots would be sold to speculative builders. He said he had heard that Lakeside was considering such an offer. Webster wanted a 30-day option for GVHC on any unsold lot for which a speculative builder made an offer.

Abe Chasanow, who is the counsel for Lakeside as well as for GVHC, assured Webster that there was no danger of any such occurrence and that Lakeside had already refused previous offers for such builders. He said it had always been the firm intention of Lakeside to sell only to individual owners.

Lloyd Moore suggested that it would be better for GVHC not to get involved in Lakeside land, and on the motion of Al Long the board decided not to accept any option on unsold Lakeside lots.

Heating Survey Suggested

A survey of all GVHC heating equipment to be made by a qualified engineer with a view to making the existing equipment more efficient as well as adding supplementary equipment, if needed, was proposed by the heating and utilities committee headed by Wayne Tucker.

Tucker reported that he and the engineer made a preliminary survey at one heating plant and that he came away feeling that definite economies could be effected. Dave Kane, maintenance supervisor, pointed out that several improvements and corrections of deficiencies were now being made as part of the regular program of spring and summer overhaul.

The board voted to table consideration of the survey until the heating season begins in the fall and when all possible corrective work has been completed by GVHC's own maintenance crew.

Parking

In reference to the parking problems of the residents of the 4-court of Ridge, the board decided to hire the services of the company currently putting in Lakeside's road to level the area adjacent to that court to permit extra parking space. This will be done for the nominal fee of $65.

C. & P. Repairman Receives Vail Medal

Paul F. Nagengast, installer-repairman for the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Baltimore City, has been awarded a bronze Vail medal and $100 for the initiative and prompt action he displayed in saving the life of a man seriously injured in an accident.

Nagengast, 28 years old and an employee of the C. and P. for eight years, received the award from James B. Morrison, president of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Companies, Monday, May 24.

On November 17, 1953, according to the citation accompanying the award, Nagengast was engaged in a field survey on Sassafras Road in Essex, Maryland when he heard a man working with a nearby tree trimming crew scream and saw him pull his arm from a chopping machine. His hand had been cut off at the base of his fingers.

Nagengast immediately went into action, grabbed the man, who had started to run in panic, forced him to lie down, applied pressure to check the bleeding and instructed a member of the tree trimming crew to call an ambulance and the police. On Nagengast's direction, another member of the crew went to his telephone company truck and got his first aid kit from which he obtained a compress and bandage. Nagengast checked the flow of blood through digital pressure and the compress and bandage until an ambulance arrived.

The citation presented to Nagengast notes that his "prompt action of first aid and his efficient directions to the other members of the crew assured prompt medical attention and probably saved the life of this injured man."

Vail medal awards are made annually and are provided by the fund created as a memorial to Theodore N. Vail, one-time president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. The medals are in recognition of the most outstanding examples of loyalty and devotion to service among telephone employees throughout the Bell System.

Suburban Trust Wants More Capital Stock

T. Howard Duckett, Chairman of the Board of Suburban Trust Company, announces that there will be a special meeting of the stockholders of Suburban Trust Company at the Hyattsville Office, 5214 Baltimore Avenue, Hyattsville, Maryland, on Monday, June 14, 1954, at three p.m. This meeting is called to consider an increase in the capital stock of the bank from 160,000 shares to 200,000 shares.

The Board of Directors has authorized, subject to the action of the stockholders, a stock dividend of 16,000 shares, on the basis of one share for ten and has directed the sale of the remaining 24,000 at $30.00 per share, with the usual pre-emptive right of purchase by the stockholders of record on July 2, 1954. Upon completion of this authorization, and certain adjustments, the Suburban Trust Company will have a capital of $2,000,000.00, surplus of $2,500,000.00 and undivided profits of $900,000.00 or a capital structure of $5,400,000.00. The Bank has also set aside $491,600.00 as a reserve for losses on loans.

The Board of Directors felt that in view of a steady increase in deposits, a substantial additional in the bank's capital was advisable. Deposits as of May 24, 1954 were $77,522,000.00 against $66,542,000.00 for the same day last year, or an increase of nearly $11,000,000.00 in twelve months, with total resources in excess of $81,000,000.00.

The Long View

By A. C. Long

This is written as the Great Northern's crack Empire Builder ambles easily across Montana. We are so late now that time makes no difference. The Kootenai River is on a rampage and is above flood stage at Bonner's Ferry in northern Idaho, so we had to detour over the Northern Pacific's tracks from Spokane to a Great Northern spur line at Helena.

It seems I always end up with a job that requires lots of traveling—in private industry, the Army, and government—so far every state in the Union, Canada, Mexico, and most of Europe. It's exciting and boresome—you meet interesting people and you get sick with lonesomeness, but it's the little incidents that stay in your memory, as on this trip it's—

The beautiful scenery on the Western Pacific's route down from the mountains along Feather River, sharing a seat in the Vista Dome with a well-heeled ancient bell of the Gay Nineties, who talked and talked and talked, and finally talked me right out of the Vista Dome. All the trains bound for California seem to have their full quota of well-to-do widows who spend most of their time traveling—

The Saturday morning shoppers at Seattle's Center Public Market with the old-fashioned stand selling nothing but spices in bulk and serving such concoctions as sassafras tea and other old-time herb beverages. Also there was the stall specializing in horse meat, where the butcher mistook me for a reluctant customer and tried to sell me some delicious and tender colt steaks—giddyap, let's get out of here—

The American Oyster House in Seattle, world famous as the finest short-order eating place, with teak paneling and furniture, silver service and white linen, and serving a small group of select and very loyal customers. Maybe this was my last meal here because the owner tearfully told me he can't renew his lease after fifty years in the same location. Of course he could have retired years ago but his business is also his hobby, even his life, which is why it is so exceptionally outstanding, I guess. Another old landmark will be gone when he closes—

I am trying to lose weight on this trip (oh, how hard it is to diet when your wife is a good cook and you know all the fine eating places in the country!) On the Burlington out of Chicago I ordered just the entree of roast beef, no soup, potatoes, vegetables, or dessert, and marked my order slip plainly. I also explained to the waiter that I was on a diet. A few minutes later he brought me the whole works, the whole dinner. I sent it back and again told him I was on a diet and showed him how plainly I had marked my order for the entree only. So I finally got my lean beef. Then the steward totaled up the bill for a full dinner—another protest and I paid for the entree only. But as I left the diner I could feel the waiter and the steward watching me with that strange look they reserve for cranks and peculiar folks, such as men on a diet. On the Great Northern diner they serve a special low-caloric dinner, lamb chop, lettuce, etc. When the steward caught the waiter serving me some delicious Roquefort dressing for my lettuce, he shook his head, so I had to explain, "I am just dieting a little, not trying to starve myself." The waiter laughed. "Would you like a couple more lamb chops?" he asked. "I might as well. I am as hungry as a bear." The strawberry shortcake with heavy cream was good, too. There must be an easier way to lose weight.
